On the Conductor Who Demanded Car Fare at Washington.

Mr. Money had Failed to Get a Transfer and When About To Be Ejected From Car He Resisted—On Way to the U. S. Senate.

Washington, April 24.—A United States Senator used a knife this morning in resisting the attempt of a street railroad conductor to eject him from a car.

Senator Money of Mississippi, while en route to the capitol changed cars. In making the change, he did not get a transfer. When he boarded a car that would carry him up the hill to the Senate wing of the Capitol, a demand was made for his fare. Senator Money said he had not been given a transfer. The conductor then demanded a fare. The Senator refused to pay. The conductor after a few words, delivered an ultimatum and when the Senator refused to accept his terms, which were to settle promptly, the conductor, with the aid of another man attempted to eject the statesman. Money drew a pen knife and cut the conductor in the hand. He was not arrested because he was on his way to the Senate and was therefore under the protection of the constitution from interference by law officers. The conductor's wound is not serious, and it is said he will prosecute the Senator.

Washington, April 24.—Senator Money, who cut a conductor this morning, has written to the traction company demanding the discharge of Conductor Shaner whom he cut.

FEAR OF VIOLENCE

Caused Twenty Mills at Paterson, N. J. to Close Today—There Seemed to be no Sign of Peace—Strikers Are Orderly Today—3500 Affected.

Paterson, N. J., April 24.—Fear of mob violence caused the owners of all the silk dye works here to close today, thus tying up the industry. The dye works affected number about a score. The number of men out is 3,500. There seemed to be no sign of peace in sight.

The strikers gathered near the various shops today, but were orderly. A meeting of the leaders was held this morning to consider reports of committees that had been sent to employers. Trouble is almost certain to follow any attempt to resume work at the dye house. The main body of strikers is made up of foreigners.

Some of the dyers' helpers declare that they have been driven to desperation by high prices of food and low wages. The men get $7 a week and demand $11. With meats at the present high prices, they declare it is impossible for them to provide for their families with common comforts.

THE BURIAL OF ALBERT JONES

REMAINS WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT FROM CHICAGO.

Advocate Dispatch Says it is Believed That Mr. Jones Was Practically Worried to Death.

A Scripps-McRae Press Association telegram from Chicago to the Advocate at noon says regarding the death of B. & O. Engineer A. J. Jones of this city:

It is believed that Albert Jones of Newark, Ohio, who died yesterday at the Garfield Park Sanitarium with all the symptoms of rabies as a victim of his own fears. He was bitten by a dog the day after last Thanksgiving, but there is no reason to believe that the dog was rabid.

Mr. Jones was 65 years old, and worried about the matter until his physicians advised him to come to Chicago for treatment at the Pasteur Institute. He left home on Monday, and when nearing Chicago he was seized with spasms while taking a drink of water. He alarmed the passengers by barking and making snarling noises, and his condition had become so bad when the cry was reached that he was not taken to the Pasteur Hospital, but to the sanitarium.

The physicians in his home city say that he "worried over his chance for developing hydrophobia until his nervous condition actually assumed the symptoms which he had dreaded for five months." Mr. Jones was one of the oldest engineers in the employ of the B. & O. railroad company.

The arrangement for the funeral of Engineer A. J. Jones have not yet been made. The body will arrive tonight on B. & O. No. 8 and will be taken to the home, 129 North Clinton street.

The deceased leaves two sons and two daughters.

Mr. James Jones and family of Chicago, Mr. Jones being a brother of the deceased, are accompanying the remains from Chicago.

KILLING

Followed the Fire—Man Charged Another With Incendiarism and a Quarrel Ensued.

Wellsburg, W. Va., April 24.—The village of Bethany, five miles east of here, was the scene of a tragedy shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Half an hour before that time a fire of incendiary origin destroyed the stables of John Gibson and Jones Brothers, causing a loss of about $2,000.

The residence of H. Gieely Rizer caught fire from the burning buildings and among those who assisted in throwing water upon it was John Sudboth, a neighbor, aged about 60 years. When the danger had passed Rizer told Sudboth that he saw him set fire to the stables. Sudboth called him a liar.

Rizer got a revolver and fired three bullets into Sudboth's breast. As he turned half about he sent another bullet into his side, and as he was falling he fired again, the bullet lodging in the back. Sudboth died instantly. Rizer was arrested, but refuses to talk.

INSANE MAN

Threw Mrs. Reed to the Ground and Was Severely Canned by Her Husband at Mansfield.

Mansfield, O., April 24.—A sensation was created when Arthur Rudd, a government clerk, who was visiting here, went violently insane. The man was stopping with his uncle, S. A. Jennings, cashier of the Citizens' Savings Bank, and during the night went out on the street naked and assaulted Mrs. H. L. Reed, wife of Captain H. L. Reed, a prominent dry goods man. Mr. and Mrs. Reed were on the way to their home nearby and were so startled that the crazy man had thrown Mrs. Reed to the ground before either knew what had happened.

Mr. Reed struck Rudd several times over the head, with a large cane, rendering him unconscious. Rudd was carried into the Jennings home. The rest of the night it required several men to hold him in bed. Mrs. Reed, who was prostrated, was assisted to her home, where it was found that the man had torn her hair and clothing.

Rudd was taken to the Cuyahoga Falls Sanitarium. He is 32 years old and was on his way to Golden, Colo., where he has a family. He has been engaged at heavy work recently on a geological survey at Washington, and this cause is given for his insanity. He acted strangely when he first arrived here and complained of not feeling well. He said he was on the way home to rest. The affair happened on the principal residence street.

This morning an official bulletin announced that the Queen had passed a quiet night, that her temperature was favorable and her capacity for nourishment adequate.

BEEF TRUST

OPPOSED BY THE DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS

Representative Richardson Calls on Ways and Means Committee to Investigate

Washington, April 24.—Two blows were aimed at the beef trust in the House yesterday from Democratic sources. One was in the form of a resolution introduced by Representative Richardson, of Tennessee, the minority floor leader, instructing the ways and means committee to investigate as to the cause of the high price of meat and to recommend suitable remedial legislation. The other was a bill by Representative McDermott, of New Jersey, removing all duties from all kinds of meat and live and dressed poultry.

Mr. Richardson, in discussing his resolution, said:

"I am not striking at the beef trust, unless that trust happens to be in the way of what I propose. It is a matter of common knowledge that the price of beef, mutton, veal and pork has risen to unusual heights recently, and there must be some reason outside of the natural one of supply and demand. I do not claim that any combination of hands of meat has conspired to this end. It is just possible that the tariff is to blame. If that is so, my resolution, if accepted, will result in laying the fact before the American people."

"I do not mind saying that I do not believe the tariff is to blame in this particular instance, for it is not so high as to entirely exclude competition from other countries. That would naturally lead me to think that perhaps the trust was to blame, and if that is the case the country should know it. In short, my resolution is meant to turn on the light for the good of the people, no matter who is hurt by the operation."

Mr. Richardson is a member of the ways and means committee, and this gives him unusual opportunities for keeping his colleagues alive to the importance of an investigation. The first step he will take will be to secure a favorable report by the committee to the House on his resolution. It is admitted however, that there is not much probability of his accomplishing that, although by continual agitation and questioning in the house he may cause the Republican leaders considerable annoyance.

The bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

HALF BURNED

Several others were injured but none seriously. About 500 people are homeless. Marienville which was a lumber town is in small hopes that the burned district will be restored.

GIANT EXPLOSION

Which Resulted in Wreck of a Tug and Injury of Men.

Donnelly Blown 200 Feet and Killed, Another Carried 175 Feet Badly Hurt—Two Others Thrown Into the Water—The Explosion Shook Many Houses.

New York, April 24.—One man killed and three injured, a tug boat wrecked and the shock of a giant explosion felt for blocks is the record of the blowing up of the tug, Anson, this morning.

The tug tied up at her pier at the head of Manhattan avenue last night. Her captain, Wm. Reichert, had gone ashore. Left on the boat were John Donnelly and James Cunningham, firemen, and John Kennedy, cook. This morning an explosion which shook houses for blocks startled the people in the vicinity.

When police reserves arrived they increased till they were unable to found the Anson in the bottom of the river. Donnelly had been blown 200 feet across Newton Creek into a yard. He was dead. Cunningham and Kennedy had been thrown into the water badly injured, but still able to swim to the Chelsea Jute mills, where they crawled aboard a tug lying there. Andrew Moran who was employed as watchman for the boats docking in that vicinity was found bleeding in Manhattan avenue, 175 yards from the scene of the explosion, badly injured. The cause of the explosion is not known, but it is supposed that during the night, the pressure on the boilers

REMOVED TOMBSTONE

Intending to Place It at Grave of Wife No. One but His Five Children Objected—A Replevin Suit for the Monument Followed.

Chicago, April 24.—Carl C. Paterson of Evanston, has buried two wives. The more he reflected on their relative merits, the more he inclined to the one of long ago. Therefore he went to Rosehill and removed the imposing tombstone from the grave of wife No. 2, and took it to a stonecutter, giving instructions that the present inscription be effaced and another be substituted which would laud the virtues of wife No. 1.

As a result, Paterson is defendant in a replevin suit filed by his five children to recover possession of "one light gray granite monument."

The gravestone cost $200 and weighs a ton. The children allege that Paterson said the grave of wife No. 2 should no longer have a mark.

CHEAP NEWSPAPER.

A Daily Started in Vienna Sells for a Farthing.

The farthing newspaper is at length an accomplished fact, according to the Westminster-Gazette. One has been started in Vienna. It is called Die Neue Zeitung and is about two-thirds the size of an English halfpenny daily. There are eight pages, three of which are devoted to advertisements and five to news. The newcomer is not a party organ, but will be generally progressive in tendency. The proprietor intends to give in tabloid form all the news printed by other journals, together with articles and generally interesting matter. There will be a morning edition and an evening edition; the latter published at noon. The fact that paper manufacturers hold a large interest in the property solves the most difficult part of the problem of making a farthing journal pay, for the cost of paper is, of course, one of the most important considerations.

The proprietor, who was formerly the owner of a leading daily in Budapest, says that he requires a circulation of 80,000 daily to cover the bare cost of publication. This is an enormous circulation in Vienna, where the most popular paper at present does not exceed 50,000 per day and where there are several dailies with a circulation of less than 10,000.

The increase of a penny in the pound in the tax on incomes recently proposed in parliament by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach raises the rate to 1s. 3d., which is within a penny of the high rate prevalent during the two years of the Crimean war, says the New York Evening Post. #### A Gladstone Memorial.

The square in Edinburgh named after St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland, where the Gladstone monument is to be erected, was built late in the eighteenth century, says the London News. The spot was so sequestered that there, just before the square was laid out, Henry Mackenzie, author of "The Man of Feeling," shot woodcocks. The memorial of the Grand Old Man will be permanently overshadowed by the statue of a minor light in the record of politics, though still a figure in Scottish history—namely, that of Henry Dundas, first Lord Melville. While secretary of the navy in 1806 he was found not guilty on a charge of "gross malversation and breach of duty." His effigy stands on a tall column in the center of the square, which was erected to his memory eight years ago by his officers and seamen of the navy.

DEATH

Of Mrs. Catherine Kelly of East Holiday Street at the Age of 75 Years.

Mrs. Catherine Kelly, an aged and highly respected woman of this city, died at the home of her son, William Kelly, 13 East Holiday street, at 5:10 o'clock on Wednesday evening, aged 75 years. The deceased had been ailing ever since the death of her daughter, Margaret, who died two months ago today, from burns received by a stove falling on her. She had, however, been confined to her bed only one week.

Mrs. Kelly was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, and came to this country when quite young with her sister, Mrs. Dora White, mother of Thomas White of this city, who has been dead for many years. The deceased was married to Mr. John Kelly in Piqua, O., and had resided in Newark for more than forty years. Her husband died in Columbus in 1891. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served in Co. A, 76th O. V.

Mrs. Kelly was the mother of six children, four sons and two daughters, being Patrick, John, Daniel, Margaret, Mary and William, all of whom are dead, with the exception of William, who resides in this city, and John, whose place of residence is unknown. The deceased was a good Christian woman, having been a member of the Catholic church all her life.

The funeral will take place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and the services will be conducted by the Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan. The interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

MR. McNAMAR

Alleges that the Shortage of Mr. Gray Began Within a Month After His Father's Death.

Nothing that was ever published in the city, caused more widespread surprise, or greater sorrow for the innocent family, than the news of the alleged shortage of James W. Gray, for years confidential man in the McNamara Machine works, who died suddenly last July 25, which was printed in Wednesday's Advocate.

In publishing the matter, the Advocate had no desire to unnecessarily harrow the feelings of the family. As a matter of fact, for this reason, this paper refrained from publishing the story, which has been known in many quarters, for several months. In fact during the past few days the matter has been the topic of conversation among men in barber shops, and other public places.

Realizing that the matter had become public property, and the fact that rumors of this kind lose nothing in the circulation the Advocate sent a man to investigate the affair, and resolved to publish the facts as nearly as they could be obtained.

Mr. McNamara was reluctant to talk about the matter, until he was shown this phase of it, and then showed the books, and the reporter was forced to his own painful conclusions. It is said that Gray's pecuniary began in 1898, the month following the death of the elder McNamara.

When it was found that no settlement could be made, Mr. McNamara had the widow appointed administratrix of the estate.

WEDDING

Of Miss Mary O'Bannon and Mr. Russell M. Seward on Wednesday—Newark Guests Present.

The wedding of Miss Mary O'Bannon, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Bannon, of Nashport, and Mr. Russell M. Seward of Columbus was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Nashport Wednesday noon, Rev. A. E. Johnson, of this city, performing the ceremony. The pretty country home of the O'Bannons was most artistically decorated with wild ferns and flowers and with the bridal party formed a most exquisite picture.

Promptly at the hour of 12 to the strains of Lohengrin's unrivaled march played by Miss Josephine Veach of Newark, the party slowly descended the stairway. Preceding them came the ribbon girls, Miss Nellie O'Bannon, sister of the bride, and Miss Minnie Scott, who formed the aisle through which the party walked to their places in the parlor.

Following the minister came the maid of honor, Miss Claren O'Bannon the youngest sister of the bride, who looked charming in a pretty gown of pale blue Paris muslin with ruffles and point lace. Then came the bride leaning on the arm of her father. She was dressed in a most exquisite gown of tulle and Paris muslin over white tulle, with point lace and insertion.

After the wedding ceremony a choice breakfast was served. The bride has many friends in Newark, who join in wishing the happy couple all the joy possible. Mr. Russell M. Seward, the groom, is the secretary-treasurer of the Sparks-Seward company, of Columbus, and is quite well known here.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Orison L. Seward, father and mother of the groom, Walter and Mabel Seward, brother and sister of the groom from Altoona, Pa.; Emmet Baugher and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Bannon, Miss Josephine Veach, Miss Minnie Montgomery, Mr. Ralph Wyeth and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swisher, all of this city. Those from Columbus were Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Koch, T. J. Davis and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sparks and Miss Minnie Scott.

The bridal party left at 10 o'clock on the Pan Handle for Altoona where they will spend two weeks at the home of the groom's parents after which they will be at home to their friends in the capital city.

McGough-Hiller.

Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian church parsonage, Rev. L. S. Boyce united in marriage Mr. Charles S. McGough and Miss Anna Hiller of West church street. Mr. McGough is the well known check clerk at the B. & O. freight office, and his bride is a charming young woman of this city.

FOOD AND HEALTH.

Look to Your Diet if You Want to be Well.

There is no longer any doubt in the minds of thinking people that natural habits and good wholesome food, properly prepared, has more to do with health than medicines, and if we live naturally and supply the daily waste in the body by properly balanced foods, there would be less doctor bills. The engine must have steam produced by fuel and the body must also have energy produced by proper food. The engine cannot run without the power that produces the steam and the body cannot run without the power that produces the energy.

A food expert who has been making a number of investigations with a view of producing a food that would combine all the essential elements of nutrition demanded by nature has discovered a combination which he calls Malt-Nut.

This new twice-cooked ready to use food, is a combination of four malted cereals and the emulsified oil of nuts. By a new process the grains are subjected to intense heat, and treated to a special preparation of malt. This process takes them through the first and hardest stages of digestion and renders them easy of assimilation by the stomach.

The grains, treated in this manner, rebuild the daily loss in the brain and nerve cells and the addition of the nut oil repairs the daily waste of fat and tissue.

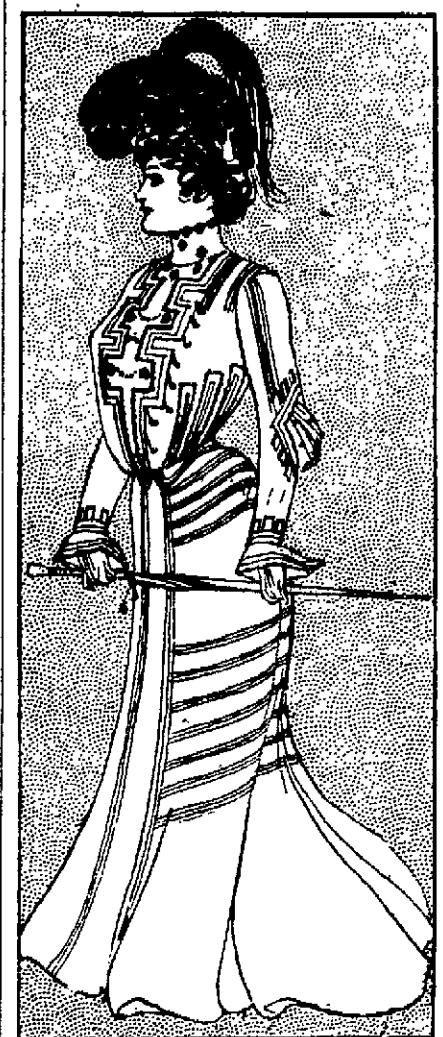

Malt-Nut can be served direct from the package with milk or cream or into a score of dainty dishes. Sold by leading grocers.

SMART COATS.

The Blouses and Short Boleros Lead. Velvet Fashionable.

The zibelines and hairy textures of the autumn and winter season are to give place to smooth fabrics with the sheen of silk, and, although embroidered spots will be used, yet so far the fancy is entirely for plain materials. All the smart woollens have some admixture of silk, and the limp, soft style of finish is universal.

Coatees, blouses of the Russian type and the bolero will be quite the mode for spring toilets, but the smarter costume for bazars, weddings and other special occasions will be made with a Louis coat, of which there are endless variations. Large collars are indispensable, and the Richelieu shape is copied to match the coat and is applied with lace and silk passementerie.

Velvet is every fashionable used in applique fashion, and there are scrolls and sprays of cut velvet introduced over lace, silk and plaited gauze with charming effect. Very handsome trimmings are composed of diamonds, medallions and scrolls cut out in velvet and placed on the material to outline the edges or make borders or bands. The velvet figures are then outlined with lace or passementerie.

THE SPRING HATS.

The Turban Has Quite Eclipsed the Sailor Shape.

The turban has quite eclipsed the sailor hat and is altogether more modern even when adorned in the simplest fashion. Toques and hats generally are worn very forward and quite close at the back. There are a few styles which are immensely popular, and of these is the tricorn, made wider and more decided in front and invariably finished with a large bow of ribbon or velvet at the back.

Another model, similar to the tricorn, but rounded in front, has the back bow, or lace is draped round the brim and forms a little drooping cascade at the back. Many hats are made in the same style, with jet or sequin lace over the brim and finishing with the little tail at the back. Entire brims of small flowers or foliage are quite a feature in spring chapeaux.

Embroideries will be lavishly employed for smart day and evening gowns, and for the latter the raised applique designs in chiffon and ribbon work are as fragile as they are costly. There are, however, simple but effective embroideries which can be managed by those fond of fancy work, such as yokes, fronts and bands of satin or tulle, worked with colored spots and tiny sprays, or bias strapings to place between attached straps of the dress material can be of contrasting colored silk with spots and tiny floral sprays or single blossoms.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE

Mrs. Eckis Stevenson of Salt Lake City Tells How Operations For Ovarian Troubles May Be Avoided.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with inflammation of the ovaries and womb for over six years, enduring aches and pains which none can dream of but those who have had the same experience. Hundreds of dollars went to the doctor and the druggist. I was simply a walking medicine chest and a physical wreck. My sister residing in Ohio wrote me that she had been cured of womb trouble by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advised me to try it. I then discontinued all other medicines and gave your Vegetable Compound a thorough trial. Within four weeks nearly all pain had left me; I rarely had headaches, and my nerves were in a much better condition, and I was cured in three months, and this avoided a terrible surgical operation."—Mrs. ECKIS STEVENSON, 250 So. State St., Salt Lake City, Utah.—$5000 forfeit if above testimonial is not genuine.

WHY BEEVES ARE FEW

Reasons For Scarcity In Spring Cattle Supply Explained.

LARGELY DUE TO DROUGHT.

Shortage of Feed Caused by That of Last Summer--Unusual Conditions Affecting the Market in the Plains Region--Effect of Reduction of the Free Range.

In view of the high prices for beef now prevailing in most parts of the country, the following article on the scarcity of beef cattle is of interest:

An abnormal condition exists in the cattle industry of the west, says the Kansas City correspondent of the New York Evening Post. It is entering on the new grass season with remarkably high prices for fat cattle, and yet there have been very low prices, comparatively, for "stockers." This condition has obtained over Kansas, Missouri, parts of Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma. It affects the market at Kansas City and at other points for reception of western range stock. Fat cattle sold in Chicago the other day for the highest figure since 1892. It was laid at the door of the packers' combination, and to a degree that was true reasoning. But back of the packers' combination and making that sort of movement possible to a large degree has been the unusual history of the cattle production of the plains in the last half decade.

The immediate cause of the shortage of fat cattle from the range region is the drought of last season extending over Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and parts of Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado. The corn crop of the section affected was cut down four-fifths, and the rough feed question became a serious one for most of the farmers. The farmers sold all their cattle that could be spared, thinning the herds down to what could be cared for during the winter without fattening, and did not buy any stock for feeding. There was abundance of money for stock fattening purposes. Cattle paper was sought by the eastern banks and investors, and the western banks had the largest deposits in their history. But the farmers could not feed 60 cent corn and make returns and could not get rough feed. So trainloads of cattle went out of the farming section to the far northwest for the winter or were slaughtered when out of condition.

Kansas City and Topeka marked a shortage as early as March 1. Chicago was sensible of the smaller receipts of fat stock from the plains during the weeks following, and as the days have gone on the shortage has become more noticeable. It is not so much that the number of cattle on the plains is lessened as that the number fattened last year was below the usual proportion. The low point in the western cattle business came five years ago. The low prices had discouraged breeders, and the ranches were stocked less heavily than for two decades. When good cows were selling at auction for $20 and two-year-olds were worth less than the feed that had been given them, what could the farmer see for the future? But the revival of business in the east made a better market, and the farmers of the prairie states awoke to the fact that they could make money out of stock. They also learned that it was good business for them to mingle agriculture with stock raising. The report for 1900 of the government showed that the southwest cattle region had the following number of range cattle, exclusive of milk cows:

	Number.	Average price.	Value.
Texas.....	4,322,241	$17.86	$77,736,234
New Mexico.....	639,848	18.64	12,301,570
Colorado.....	1,091,928	17.68	19,297,508
Arizona.....	322,712	16.46	5,309,226

Since that time the number has increased rather than diminished. The removal of the government land from free range has been one of the burdens of the ranchmen. It has compelled them to purchase land if they would remain in the business and consequently has made smaller ranches. The taking of the Comanche, Apache and Kiowa reservations from the range last summer was another feature in the shortage, for fully 200,000 cattle were sacrificed as a result of this action. Owing to the western movement of settlers a large amount of Texas and Kansas land has been taken out of the list, and even in Nebraska there is complaint of a discrimination against the cattleman and in favor of the settler, which does not appear to the average individual as very wrong. All of these things have diminished the cattle supply for the spring market and has made possible the results of the combination of interests among the packers. There is likely to be little change until the cattle that are put on grass can be fattened for market. A corn crop must be harvested in this section of the west before there can be a resumption of the feeding. With the large amount of money seeking investment in the west farmers will have no trouble in floating cattle paper, and the coming of a corn crop will probably see more feeding than ever before in the history of the prairie states.

La Jolie the Athletic's famous second baseman, notwithstanding the decision of the Pennsylvania supreme court, played his position at the opening of the American League season at Baltimore.

Toledo and St. Paul opened the American Association season in Toledo Wednesday with an eleven inning game Kline, the Toledo catcher, won the game by a home run. Score 8 to 7.

In the game in New York Wednesday, the home team had 10 men left on bases, while not a Boston player who started to make the circuit was left.

Bob Ewing, McPhee's young pitcher, was hit safely 11 times at Pittsburgh Wednesday and gave six bases on balls. Philippi did not give one free pass nor hit a batter. Such control wins games.

Hoy got another two bagger at Pittsburgh Wednesday. The Dummy is batting well in the Pittsburgh series, and it would be well for the Reds if some of the other players would "trim their lamps" and begin to start the seams in the horsehide.

Wallace, the St. Louis American short stop, made a home run in the opening game Wednesday.

The Columbus team opened the American Association season in that city Wednesday before the largest crowd that ever attended an opening contest before. The 4000 fans went home to supper happy, as the Columbus team was returned winners by 5 to 0, from Minneapolis. Columbus played a fast fielding game, but only made 2 hits off Corbett, who pitched in masterly style, eight errors being responsible for his team's defeat.

Speaking of Corbett of Minneapolis, he is not the famous ex-Oriole, and brother to Pompadour Jim. His real name is Czaperlewski, or words to that effect. For the benefit of those who might have to pronounce or write such a combination he has taken the celebrated name of Corbett for baseball purposes. He is a Pole in nationality, but he pitches like an Irish boy from the sand lots.

Secretary Bassell of the Columbus Board of Trade made a neat speech at the opening of the base ball season Wednesday and Mayor John Hinkle pitched the first ball.

Blotches—"That's a bad cold you have." Slobbins—Yes, I've never been lucky enough to catch a good one."

Doctor—"You should eat plenty of fruit in the morning." Grazier—"I do invariably order cherries in my cocktails."

Some people expect convenience to use a megaphone.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

Cause of Hitch In the Proceedings at Pretoria.

TERMS THE BOERS HOLD OUT FOR

Will Not Desert Cape Rebels and Want the Banishment Proclamation Withdrawn--Minimum Terms They Are Offered--Krugers Views on Peace Terms and Independence.

Although it has been stated recently that the hitch in the peace proceedings at Pretoria, South Africa, was owing to the refusal of the British government to place the Cape rebels on the same footing as the burghers and to withdraw the banishment proclamation, the real difficulty appears to be that the Boer leaders have not only pledged themselves to carry these two points, but also to other terms in their minimum proposals, the articles of which are herewith given, says the New York Times:

"First.—Independence of the two republics under the protectorate of Great Britain.

"Second.—Complete amnesty for all the Afrikaners who have joined the Boers.

"Third.—Withdrawal of Lord Kitchener's proclamation ordering the banishment of the Boer leaders.

"Fourth.—Rebuilding of the farms burned by the British troops."

All evidence shows that the Boers are religiously and hence conscientiously opposed to deserting the Cape rebels, just as they are to surrendering the independence for which they have been fighting.

An extract of the authorized statement published in Le Matin of Paris, in which Mr. Kruger declared the Boers' independence to be God's gift and hence inviolable, was cabled to the United States, but it was not made evident that the whole of the minimum terms offered are based upon what Kruger, Leyds, Fischer & Co. believe to be God's unalterable will. The whole secret of the Boers' obstinacy appears to be concentrated in the following words:

"Peace has been offered to us as well as amnesties and pardons and financial aid to repair our losses. But at what price? At the price of our independence, as if that were a thing to be bought and sold. No; not all the treasures of the world could pay for our liberty, for it is God who gave it us, and we could not give it up without repudiating God and meriting his malediction. We have appealed, as was our duty, to the good offices of the international arbitration court instituted for settling the differences between civilized nations. We have appealed to the consciences of governments. Hitherto we have not been listened to. Are we discouraged? In no way. When the Lord shall himself summon these governments, they will be forced to come and take the road which he will indicate to them and stop at the place which he will mark out to them. The English government will no more than others be excluded from this summons in order that it may accept our honest offer of arbitration, peace and friendship. The English government and people will then have to bow before the divine will. They will have to open their eyes and be converted. I pray God to do this.

"We have endured many injustices and cruelties. My Christian conscience does not allow me hatred. I regret the errors and sufferings of the English people, because, God be praised, there are in that people many men who, if they were accurately informed, would follow the Christian path with us. They are still misled. I pray that their eyes may be opened, for they are deceived. The English people were told that we were the oppressors of foreigners. Has not experience proved that the desire of oppression was not on our side; that the alleged grievances were only a pretext for masking the avarice of unscrupulous financiers, who have no other aim than to accumulate wealth? Every day costs England enormous sums and—a more irreparable loss—a sensible diminution of her prestige, her honor, her political influence. The veracity of my words is attested by facts. An honorable peace is still possible. On the day when the eyes of the English people are opened to the truth peace will be made, for the war is prolonged only by the cupidity and falsehood of our adversaries. I pray God to add to all the miracles which he is accomplishing in our favor that of dispelling the blindness of the English. May he soon listen to this prayer. He alone is the Master."

Instead of goggles women automobilists are going to wear mica masks this spring, says the New York Press. In a fashionable millinery shop the newest automobile hat exhibited is a "Petit Caporal" of white felt cloth. This Napoleonic bonnet has a band of white satin ribbon, which is fastened under the chin, and also long streamer strings of white chiffon, which can be wound around the neck with artistic effect. From each of the two points of the hat over the ears comes a slender nickel chain, which fastens the isinglass face shield to it.

General Hampton's Last Wish.

General Wade Hampton expressed the wish that his people be allowed to look on his face and that he be buried in a plain pine coffin, says the Savannah News. The feeling of friendship for the negro deep in the heart of the old slaveholder was strikingly illustrated in the dying words of the great Carolinian—"God bless my people, all-white and black."

RAILWAY AFFAIRS OF THE DAY

FRANK DOTY BADLY HURT IN B. & O. YARDS.

Points of Both Local and General Interest in Railroad Circles.—Personal Items.

Frank Doty, a well known employee of the B. & O. railroad at this point, had the misfortune to meet with a very painful though not serious accident in the yards about 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening. Mr. Doty was employed as a yard man and was engaged in doing some switching, when he stepped into hole and was thrown to the ground. The pilot of the engine struck him, spraining his back and hip, but breaking no bones. Bower & Bradley's ambulance was called and he was taken to his room at the Central House on Fourth street where his injuries were attended to by Dr. D. M. Smith, who is of the opinion that his injuries are not of a very serious nature, and thinks that he will soon be able to resume work. Mr. Doty's home is in Zanesville, and he has been here but a short time.

A B. & O. Strike is Settled

The strike of the B. & O. shopmen will end at once. The men at Cumberland, Md., Chillicothe, O., Glenwood, Pa., Zanesville, O., and Grafton, W. Va., and Garret, Ind., who are employed as machinists, will go to work again. The strike was originated in the opposition to the piece work system. General Superintendent of Motive Power F. D. Cassanave, formerly a Pennsylvania man, desired to introduce the system and was opposed by certain men. It will be adopted at all the Baltimore & Ohio shops in the future.—Today's Pittsburg Post.

For Improvements.

The New York Tribune says that one of the best known railroad presidents in the United States, a veteran of long experience, makes public an estimate that the railroads of this country will spend $400,000,000 this year for improvements, extensions and equipments, a larger total than these companies have ever laid out in any year before in enlarging their traffic facilities.

ALFONSO FOND OF SPORT.

Spain's King, Seen to Be Crowned, Hunts Nearly Every Sunday.

The Madrid correspondent of the European edition of the New York Herald sends some details showing that King Alfonso XIII. of Spain, who is to be crowned on May 17, has a healthy love of sport.

Nearly every Sunday the young sovereign attends shooting parties at Zarzuela, often accompanied by the Prince of the Asturias and the Duke of Calabria. He is always escorted by his adjutants, Senor Lofiga, lieutenant colonel of artillery; Senor Castonjo Elio, chief of staff; and Dr. Alabern, physician to the royal household. There is game of all kinds, especially rabbits, hares and small birds. At midday the king drives to the Orient palace for dejeuner.

Larger game is found in the mountains of the Granja, belonging to the crown. There is a large number of wild boar and deer there, and a large shooting party will be organized to celebrate the accession of King Alfonso, to which all the special ambassadors to the Spanish coronation will be invited. The hounds are all fond of shooting.

King Alfonso XIII. also likes fencing and will preside at a meeting which will be held at the Army Club, with the cooperation of Conte, who is already popular at Madrid: Karchloffer, Marquis, Monique and Rue, all of whom wear the insignia of the Order of Isabel in Catalonia.

The king has a fondness for the Casa de Campo, where he may often be seen riding his favorite horse Chiquito, a thoroughbred from the stables of Aranzuez. His majesty is also honorary president of the nautical clubs of Barcelona and San Sebastian. He always attends the regattas at the latter place.

No matter how much other people may run down the theatre the bill-poster always sticks up for it.
